Faith Formation Resources for the Fifth Sunday of Lent
RESOURCES FROM ILLUSTRATED MINISTRY

As the world struggles to adjust to life amidst the COVID-19 pandemic, necessary disruptions are affecting all aspects of our lives. Schools are closing, places of worship are canceling services, sports seasons are being suspended, and we are all adjusting to this new way of life. Illustrated Ministry hopes that these faith formation resources are meaningful and helpful to you.

We will be sending a weekly email during the COVID-19 pandemic which will include faith formation resources for all ages. We will be following the Revised Common Lectionary, and most of the resources will line up with the appropriate texts for each of the Sundays. If this resource was forwarded to you, and you would like to sign up to receive the weekly email in your inbox, you can sign up at: illustratedministry.com/flattenthecurve

The weekly resource consists of a variety of resources, including children's worship bulletins, devotionals, and coloring pages. There are a variety of different ways you could use these resources at home:

- As a family, put together an order of worship. You can use this as an interactive piece to the scripture reading and message/sermon.
- Use this as an individual or family devotional to reflect on throughout the week.
- Get a group of friends together, virtually, and color the coloring page and reflect on the scripture passage.
- While you watch your church’s virtual worship service, your children can color the coloring page or do the activities in the children's worship bulletin.

Scripture Reading: Psalm 130

Out of the depths I cry to you, O Lord.
   Lord, hear my voice!
Let your ears be attentive
   to the voice of my supplications!

If you, O Lord, should mark iniquities,
   Lord, who could stand?
But there is forgiveness with you,
   so that you may be revered.

I wait for the Lord, my soul waits,
   and in God’s word I hope;
my soul waits for the Lord
   more than those who watch for the morning,
more than those who watch for the morning.

O Israel, hope in the Lord!
   For with the Lord there is steadfast love,
   and with God is great power to redeem.
It is God who will redeem Israel
   from all its iniquities.

Reflection
This morning’s scripture is from the book of Psalms, which is an entire book of songs and prayers written to God. Some of the psalms are really happy, but not all of them. In this song, the psalmist is deeply upset and looking for comfort and hope by crying out to God.

The psalmist cries out to God from the depths - a place of grief, despair, and deep worry. But as we read on, we can hear how the psalmist has faith things won’t stay that way. The psalmist trusts God will listen to their cries and bring them up from the depths. It won’t be immediate, though. There will be waiting.

Waiting is a hard thing to do. The psalmist tells us while they waited, they used that time to repent. Repentance means changing your mind. It’s letting how you see yourself and the world be transformed. It can involve saying good-bye to old things or old ways of living and being. Like the psalmist who wrote this whole song with hope from the depths of pain, we too are waiting.
When we’re struggling with the many challenges we are experiencing with COVID-19, we may feel different kinds of emotions. One thing we can do is pray — that is, talk to God and share all of what we feel like the psalmist did. God welcomes all of our emotions. God hears us when we’re upset, scared, sad, or mad, as much as when we’re happy, proud, and joyful.

Take a moment to think about how you feel when someone you care about is hurting. If you’re in a group, share your responses. Just like you care when someone you love is hurting, happy, or scared, remember God also loves us and cares about how we feel. God feels it with us.

Discussion Questions
1. What is the hardest thing about waiting?
2. What do you do when you’re really, really happy?
3. What do you do when you feel upset? What makes you feel better?
4. Who do you talk to when you need to share how you feel?

Prayer
Dear God, thank you for always being with us and caring about us and our feelings. Thank you for always listening when we pray. Amen.
When we talk about compassion, we usually do so in terms of having compassion for someone other than ourselves. But it is essential to have compassion for ourselves. Especially now, when COVID-19 has entirely disrupted our daily life.

One act of compassion you can practice is naming our emotions. When we name our feelings, we become aware of how a situation is affecting us and how we can have compassion for ourselves and others. When we’ve caused hurt, we make the necessary repairs in our relationships.

Do an internet search for “feelings wheel” or “emotion wheel.” Find one you like, and if you can, print it out and place it somewhere visible in your home. Check in with yourself or your family/group a few times a day. Using the emotion wheel, ask, “What are you feeling right now?”

Remember no feeling is final. Feelings can also be an excellent time to pray to God and share how you’re feeling. Use this page to draw or write about what you’re feeling. Whether you draw or write, both are ways to pray to God and share how you’re feeling.
HOLY GOD
YOU ARE WITH US

from the spinning planets in our sky to the tiniest microbe that lives on the tiniest paw of the tiniest mouse.
you care for the creation & you care for us

Whether we are out in the world or tucked inside our home, we know that you are as close as the air that we breathe.

Thank you for being our friend and comforter.

Amen
"I wait for you, God, my soul waits, and in God’s word I hope..."
- Psalm 130:5
John 11 shares the amazing story of Jesus bringing one of his friends, Lazarus, back to life. Lazarus had died and was in a tomb, and Jesus called him to come out of the tomb. Imagine you are watching this miracle happen. Draw what you see.

The prophet Ezekiel was sent by God to prophesy in many places, including a valley of dry bones. Help Ezekiel find his way. Solve the maze.
